THE EVENING STAR has a regular and times larger than that of any other paper in the city. As a local NEWS paper and Advertising Medium it has no competitor.

If the election of President goes to the House of Representatives by reason of a failure of the people to elect in the electoral college it will people to elect in the electoral college it will because certain western republican and $7.50 southern democratic states break away from their party allegiance and effect a coalition between the farmers' alliance and that one of the old parties which serves the purpose of the hour. Such a combination may have been arranged already in Kansas and is hoped for by $7.50 the promoters of the scheme in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska and possibly other northwestern and in three or four southern communities. The democrats have most to fear by the deal in the latter and the republicans in $7.50 the former section, though as far as the presidential election is concerned the democrats need not care how many states they lose to the alliance provided enough states can be wrested from | 888 ALE the republicans by an alliance coalition to prevent a republican majority in the electoral $7.50 college. If the election is thrown into the House the democratic candidate will be chosen whether the democrats carry six states or a dozen in the presidential struggle. Outside of the alliance coalition with its promise of present advantage and permanent injury, the democrais have decreasing prospects of success. SSS AKS' "Some good western man" to be acceptable to all the factions must be a prodigy of tact and Sassale. wisdom or a miracle of obscurity and inconsequence. An eastern Clevelandite candidate $7.50 who can give hope of carrying the old central and some of the New England states is sure to be weak in the vagary-struck west and south.

Nevertheless this historical party of "all the Sassale." steered nimbly, or at least successfully, between Scylla and Charybdis. It may do so in 1892, although its sky is now overcast. Sas UIT Sas ALE.

Mr. Hill has spoken several times, at two or three points at great length, in the course of $7.50 uthern tour, but while he has exploited the historical deeds and opinions of the demo-cratic party he has very carefully avoided the chief topic of interest to the south at present. Sas ALE. It would seem that the Senator has no ideas on silver that he dares to present to the friends of silver. He may find that the presidency, on this account, will evade him just as he is seeking to evade the embarrassments on the way to the presidency. His chief rival has some able-bodied notions on the subject of silver free coinage and he does not apparently feel senator Hill is hunting friends have the courage of their convictions, whatever else may be SSSALE. said of them, and they admire men who have convictions and do not fear to express them. $7.50 Another thing about the Hill speeches, especially the Birmingham effort, is the stress he lays on the protective principle in the democratic platform of '88, inherited from the Raudallite platform of '84, and which most southern democrats do not affect and barely tolerate. Is the candidate's hand losing its cunning this early?

People who attend murder trials and behave in an unseemly manner are not ant to learn anything of permanent value to them from the rebukes administered by the judge, but the public are nevertheless indebted to the beach for upholding the dignity of the proceedings. Occasionally a stern reproof has a temporary good effect on the offender or offenders. The judges in criminal trials in the District of Columbia have been properly careful to restrain the levity and disorder natural to miscellaneous assemblies drawn together out of idle curiosity.

To the necrology of the time must be added the name of Viscount Hampden, better known as Speaker Brand of the British House of Commons. He was a most extraordinary presiding officer in the most extraordinary period of the modern Parliament that of the Parnell obstruction tactics. He was a liberal, continued in office by the tories or conservatives when they came into power, and his great tact, impartiality and decision were conspicuous during his twelve years in the chair.

Arizona and New Mexico have secured in the House of Representatives the favorable report longed for to send them on the way to statehood It is a great thing, this steady accretion of states to the Union. Our new states ought always to be homogeneous and of suftcient population and resources.

The remarkable thing in republican national politics is that the greater the talk in certain newspapers and circles of the withdrawal of Mr. Harrison the greater the indorsement of him and his administration by states that may be expected to eject him-if he is re-elected.

SATURDAY WITH US IS, TO A GREAT EXTENT, GIVEN TO THE WANTS AND NEEDS OF THE YOUNG FOLKS-has been for some time past. You'll always find it so, whather we announce it or not. We do this girl appreciates a new suit or a new dress more if allowed to help select it—will take better car of and feel more pride in wearing it. We've never had such a pretty stock of Boys' Clothing to show. All of the best kinds are here. They please these most who thoroughly appreciate the value of RELIABLE GARMENTS. There are more ways than one to cheapen clothing. The cloth may be equally good, but other things besides the cloth are needed to produce strictly first-class clothing. We are as much terested in linings, trimmings and workmanship, as we are in the cloth required for a really serviceable suit. These points are vital and are to be remembered. Our prices are never unreasonable, but always as low as like quali ties can porsibly be hawited for.

The "Sussex" Pants Suits are a decided innovation. The makers wishing to checkmate the sale of Kilt Sults have produced a suit so pretty in effect and skillfully wrought that the small boy's pleadings for "first pants" can hardly be refused, and they are moderately priced, too. INFORMAL "OPENING" OF WRAPS. READERS of advertisements have learned that while the formal spring "openings" have already occurred at most establishments the Palais Royal "opening" will not occur until shortly before Easter. You may therefore have concluded that the "P. R." stock is not yet complete. This informal "opening" of Wraps is to despel any such illusion. EXCLUSIVE.—There is so much humbug connecte with the word exclusive that we besitate using it even in a legitimate way. The imported garments we have to show you are exclusive because the chances are that our Paris and London agents did not select the identical style garments as secured by the representatives of the American wrap manufacturers. The prices are tage are willing to pass them on to you at European Imported Ulsters #17 to $97 Imported Jackets, $10 to $25. Imported Capes, $10 to $29. Imported Robes, $12 to $25.

Imported Jerseys, $1.35 to $4.50. Any written description of these garments cannot de them justice. When compared with the usual domes tic-made garments the style and fit are as different ; the intonation and gestures of a Booth when compared with the politician's stump speech in a country grocery. Enough to ask you to compare Palais Royal prices with those where exclusive novelties mean exclusive prices.

But exclusive novelless (!) exist in American-mad carments. The plan is to bargain with a manufac urer to supply no other retailer in the city. Of course, he merchant has to be charged extra for the accoun odation, but he is enabled to secure unusual profits. The Palais Royal, having no fear of 'competition, i nore independent; has the entire army of manufacarers to select from. The result is better qualities for the prices and just as exclusive styles; as exclusive ecause the merchants who credit many of their parous must secure greater profit, and therefore cannot afford to sell the same garments as shown at the Palais Royal; they have to rely on exclusive noveltees (f).
